

SUMMARY

Strategic Sight Consulting is a business and technology consulting agency dedicated to delivering actionable product and business development strategies that align with our client's objectives and mission. We support small businesses and federal organizations in building their technical vision for global operations. We bring experience in technical analysis of improvised threats, piloting and evaluating Small Unmanned Aircraft Systems capabilities, and a thorough understanding of Capabilities Based Assessments (CBAs) for test and evaluation of custom and commercial based technologies for performance and effectiveness. We use our proven frameworks to guide our clients through the product development life cycle for marketplace and mission success. Strategic Sight Consulting was founded on the core principles to be your dedicated and trusted source for purpose-driven solutions.

SPECIALIZED EXPERTISE

We specialize in system and software engineering solutions and have extensive experience with hardware and software reverse-engineering, developmental and implementation testing, algorithm development, electronic data recovery and forensics analysis, life-cycle support of custom tools and commercial systems, evidence handling and basic chain of custody standards, technical characterization of custom and commercial electronic circuits, and adhering to ISO/IEC 17025 Forensic Accreditation.

We demonstrate core competency in the analysis of emergent commercial technology to understand operational characteristics, identify vulnerabilities and easily targetable parameters using specific reverse engineering techniques developed over years of experience. This aids in the development, implementation, and sustainment of an array of complex systems designed to assist our customers in maintaining a common operating picture for tactical and strategic decision making in support of intelligence operations, force protection and prosecution - when applicable.

Our diverse engineering skills, all source intelligence subject matter expertise, and our familiarity with improvised explosive devices (IEDs) and Unmanned Systems (UMS) testing/piloting, uniquely positions us to provide the required engineering and consulting services that address Warfighter and Force Protection needs through technologically creative and advanced solutions.

CUSTOMERS

As an independent company, Strategic Sight Consulting LLC is adaptable to work with a wide variety of customers both private and public. We are available to provide direct support to: Department of Defense, Department of Justice, Department of Homeland Security, Private Firms, State and Local Offices, Intelligence and Law Enforcement Communities.
